Since 1990 Quantum Fitness has been known throughout the industry as a manufacturer of superior, American-made commercial strength equipment. But with the recent introduction of our cardio line, Quantum now boasts one of the most diverse and competitive product lines in the industry. We wanted to design and produce treadmills the way we think they should be built, here in the USA with primarily American components. Our treadmill line continues to show Quantum's commitment to provide excellent, innovative fitness products.
